No Phone Conference With Attlee On Palestine, He Says

Small Nations Win Right To Express Views

Can Present Views To All

mittees Is Decision

LOSE OUT ON FULL VOTING PRIVILEGES

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Aug. 1.—The small nations won the right to express their views to all peace conference committees today but lost out to Soviet Russia, the United States, Great Britain and France on full-scale voting privileges.

The latter proposal was made by The Netherlands.

Molotov Leads Opposition

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov led the opposition in a series of deft maneuvers. He went on record in support of a Greek suggestion for broadening negotiations connected with drafting treaties and then turned loose his full persuasive powers to defeat the Dutch amendment.

Despite support from Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, the Dutch proposal was defeated by the procedural committee, 11 votes to 9, and Molotov's compromise was adopted unanimously.

Molotov took the view that 21-nation voting rights on all committees would stack the cards against Moscow. He reiterated that no one has the least desire to prevent any nation from being heard and added:

"If anyone still has such a doubt, (Continued on Page Sixteen)

PA NEW OBSERVES

One street in the city which could stand revamping of the house-numbering system is North Croton avenue from Crawford avenue to the city line. The numbers which have been used for the past 50 years, Pa New is told, are rather confusing.

On North Jefferson street, where several new parking meters were erected in a location where there were none previously, a "no parking" sign still hangs over one of the new meters. The sign was evidently missed by city employees when the new meters were installed.

Renovations still continue in the downtown area of the city in an effort to produce a better post-war New Castle. Workmen were quite busy at a building at the corner of Mercer and East Washington street, Wednesday afternoon remodeling a portion of the front of the building.

With much petty pilfering going on in the past few weeks, Pa New suggests that local residents inform police when they are going to be away on extended vacations so that cruiser operators can check the residences to find if everything is in order.

Pa New is informed by local missionaries that boat mail, especially to Africa, has not been speeded up too much by a regular letter to Africa, requiring six weeks to two months to reach that continent. Letters sent via air mail reach them in five to six days from the time of dispatch.

Many times the classified ads carried in The News bring humorous replies. Recently an ad was carried stating that a furnished apartment was for rent. A letter received in reply to the ad gave qualifications (Continued on Page Two)

Congress Session Is Slated To End Sometime Friday

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The 79th congress, which sat in virtually continuous sessions during the transition from war to peace, today neared the end of its legislative history.

Final adjournment is slated for tomorrow.

A recapitulation of accomplishments during 18 months of activity showed that far from being a "rubber stamp" for the administrative branch, the house and senate pursued an independent—and in some cases violently opposite—course to that desired by the White House. Nearly all of the 79th's existence was under the presidency of Harry S. Truman, who moved into the White House on April 12, 1945, on the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Not "Rubber Stamp"

While earlier congresses were branded by some critics as "rubber stamps" for the Roosevelt "New Deal" philosophy, the 79th stood firmly in opposition to many presidential requests for legislation. The 79th congress granted President Truman only a fraction of his 28 major legislative requests. In only several vital measures did congress place its approval in the identical form desired by the administration. (Continued on Page Two)

Bomber Crashes On West Coast; Eleven Killed

Report Marine Corps Four-
Engined Bomber Crashes
Near Kearney Airfield

NAMES OF VICTIMS NOT AS YET KNOWN

(BULLETIN)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 1.—(INS)—A four-engined Marine Corps bomber crashed a mile and a half north-west of the Camp Kearney airfield early today, killing its eleven occupants.

First unofficial reports said four of the men aboard the PB4Y-2 privateer, the single-tailed version of the B-25 Liberator bomber, were army officers. The other seven were believed all to have been navy personnel, possibly Marines.

The plane crashed and exploded shortly after taking off for San Antonio, Tex. The blast was heard for a radius of 15 miles.

Names of the victims were not immediately released.

New High For Births At Jameson Hospital

Month Of July Establishes New Record, Topping June Of 1942,
Giving Increase For Year

All birth records at the Jameson Memorial hospital for any given month were broken during July, when 108 babies were born at the hospital. The number included two sets of twins, of which one baby died at birth.

The previous record, established in October, 1942, a year war was 107, and the next nearest was in June, 1945, when 101 babies were born at the institution.

There has been an increase in the number of births every month this year, except June, but the number born in July more than offset the number born in June.

So far this year there have been 603 babies born at the Jameson hospital, against 487 during the same period of 1945. The banner year was 1943 with 1003 births.

Tractor Upsets; Driver Is Killed

Michael A. Brian Fatally Hurt In Accident Wednesday Night

Michael A. Brian, aged 27 years, of 8 Fulton street, World War II veteran, who was training under the Veterans Administration agricultural training program here, met a tragic death Wednesday night about 10:45 o'clock while at work on the John Newsunder farm, R. D. 1, Wampum, which is leased by the W. H. Weinschenk company.

The farm had been planted in beans, and in company with a fellow workman, Mr. Brian had gone to the farm to do some dusting, using a tractor-drawn duster. There is a small bridge over a ditch leading into the field, where Mr. Brian was working, and in driving into the field he failed to hit the center of the bridge, the tractor overturning, and the sharp edge of the duster hopper striking him on the temple, fracturing his skull.

Help was summoned from the Weinschenk greenhouses, and his body was extricated from beneath the tractor and duster unit. Coroner T. F. Nugent, who was notified, pronounced his death as accidental.

Brian saw 36 months of service in the late war. His home was originally in Cleveland, where he had been orphaned as a boy by the death of his parents. He was regarded as one of the outstanding members of the agriculture training class, and had recently purchased a home at 8 Fulton street, where he resided with his wife and little son, aged four years.

Mr. Brian was born in Cleveland, O., October 16, 1918, son of Mr. and (Continued on Page Two)

Plane Seeking New Record In Hop Across U. S.

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(INS)—A B-29 Superfortress roared away from La Guardia field today for a non-stop flight to Burbank, Calif., in an attempt to break the east-west transcontinental record of nine hours and 10 minutes.

The bomber carried a crew of six and was piloted by Capt. Dan Grubbaugh of Van Wert, O., who hoped to reach Burbank in slightly less than eight hours.

The B-29 took off at 10:54 a. m. EDT, hoping to break the record made last May by a Navy Lockheed PVA from New York to San Francisco.

The best west-east time is four hours, 13 minutes and 26 seconds, established last January by a jet-propelled Lockheed P-80.

Strong winds usually favor eastward crossing.

British Unearth Large Arms Cache

JERUSALEM, Aug. 1.—(INS)—British authorities announced today that troops searching the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv have unearthed the largest arms cache of their mass combat.

Tel Aviv's chief synagogue and a cluster of houses in the center of the city yielded extremists' arms caches yesterday as British forces hunted for perpetrators of the King David hotel bombing. Details of the new find were not made known immediately.

CRIPPLE KILLS STEP-FATHER

Miss Jacqueline Colburn, 19, a rheumatic fever victim and wheelchair invalid since she was four years old, is shown being removed from her Springfield, Ill., home to a hospital after she had called police telling them she had shot and stabbed her step-father to death following a quarrel. The girl's mother told police she had purchased the gun for Jacqueline because the step-father had beaten the girl on previous occasions. Shown left to right are Verne Drago, coroner; Deputy Sheriff Don Hogler, Miss Colburn, State's Atty. John Curnen and Chief Deputy John Hunter.

U. S. Ship Sinks After Collision

Shipping Circles Await Full Report Of Disaster West
Of English Channel

SHIP WAS ON WAY TO EUROPE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(INS)—Shipping circles awaited a full report today of the sinking of the SS American Farmer after a collision with the SS American Trader about 400 miles west of the English Channel.

A Radio Marine Corp. station at Chatham, Mass., reported the sinking after it picked up an SOS relayed from the Trader by the American vessel SS Washington.

RMC officials in New York said the Trader was picking up survivors and that two unidentified vessels were standing by.

First distress signal from the Trader gave the time of the collision as 8:54 p. m. EDT last night. At 9:20 p. m. (EDT) the Trader reported it had taken aboard two boatsload of survivors. Seventeen minutes later the Trader radioed the Farmer had sunk and survivors were still coming aboard.

No Estimate of Those Aboard
RMC officials said no estimate of the number of persons aboard the sunken vessel was available, nor was there any word of casualties. They said the Trader was damaged. (Continued on Page Two)

Russia Begins Drive Against 'Bribe-Takers'

MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Russian home-front troubles came to the fore again today when the procurator's office disclosed officially that a drive has been started against "bribe-takers."

Several officials already have been tried and condemned for graft, including two chiefs of district housing apartments who allotted rooms and apartments only after the prospective tenants gave them substantial sums of money on the side.

Several railroad cashiers who sold tickets on the same basis also were said to have been among those who faced the official wrath of the Soviet prosecutor.

A number of other cases still are under consideration. It was announced.

Production Frauds
The Communist party newspaper Pravda revealed today that investigations of the Soviet Ministry of State Control have begun a wide drive against production frauds and deception in industry and agriculture.

Investigators were said to have uncovered a number of "criminal" cases in recent days. The newspaper said faked records apparently were aimed at concealing inefficient management in the hope of obtaining extra bonuses.

G. O. P. Senators See Wide Open Presidential Nomination Race

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The Republican membership of the Senate believes today there is a wide open race for the GOP presidential nomination in 1948.

The Republican senators are now without a collective choice for the nomination. A poll of the senators disclosed that an overwhelming majority expect that political developments in the coming 20 months will thrust the party's next nominee into the national spotlight.

Few Venture Choice

Only eight out of 39 GOP togethewers ventured to forecast their 1948 nominee and only 11 expressed a present day choice—subject to change by future events. Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, of Michigan, ruled a favorite in both groups making choices. He won five out of the eight forecasts and was the favorite of six out of the 11.

The most curious outcome was the utter absence of Senate support for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York.

Of the eight forecasting the 1948 winner, five voted for Vandenberg and one each for Gov. Earl Warren, of California, John W. Bricker, of Ohio, and Harold L. Stassen, of Minnesota.

Six For Vandenberg

Of those having personal choices, six voted for Vandenberg, two for Warren, two for Stassen and one for Bricker.

Most of the GOP senators were asked two questions: "Who will be the 1948 Republican nominee?" and "whom do you favor for the nomination?" Some senators shut off

Mead Committee Seeks Evidence On Defective Shells

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The Mead committee appealed to officers and GI's today for eye-witness evidence on the premature explosion of defective 12 mortar shells shown in its "war profits" inquiry to have taken at least 29 American lives overseas.

Sen. Mead (D) N. Y., committee chairman, made public a four-page questionnaire being sent to army personnel "known to have first-hand knowledge of the facts." Mead said this was preliminary to a "separate major investigation."

Mead made public three out of more than 50 reports already received from officers and enlisted men. One officer commanding a chemical warfare depot in Europe said that on "numerous occasions" no shells could be sent to the front because all—"upwards of 100,000 shells"—were impounded.

Report 'Many Killed'

Another veteran of two years combat service in a 42 outfit wrote the committee that "many of our men were killed and wounded as a result of this defective ammunition." A third veteran insisted that the source of defective shells could easily be checked by "lot numbers."

The committee planned to meet tomorrow in closed-door session to map its future program after closing hearings on the payment of (Continued on Page Two)

Puts Quarantine On Cats And Dogs

Quarantine Results When Test Shows Some West
Side Cats Have Rabies

Chief of Police Robert D. Hanna today imposed a 100 days quarantine on all cats and dogs because several cases of rabies have been found in cats on the West Side. He said that any cat or dog discovered running at large would be shot.

He said that several days ago a cat which attacked a child had been found to have rabies. A second child was bitten by another cat and he believes that the cats which were infected may have infected other felines, rats and dogs.

It is the first time in years that a quarantine has been imposed on cats.

Fear 20 Lost In Liner Burning

Dazed Survivors Of Brazilian Liner Disaster Reach
Rio De Janeiro

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Dazed survivors of the wrecked Brazilian liner Duque de Caxias are being cared for in Rio De Janeiro today as authorities probe the explosion and fire which turned the vessel into a torch.

Brazilian officials said at least ten persons were killed in the marine tragedy. Unofficial estimates place the dead at 20 passengers and crewmen.

First group of survivors reached Rio late last night and 300 were hospitalized immediately. The 16,000-ton vessel carried 1,762 passengers and a crew of 346.

Die From Burns-Exposure

Most of the injured suffered from burns and exposure. Adm. Dods-worth Martins, Brazil's navy minister, declared the low death toll was "a miracle."

Dead include three crewmen, two children and four women passengers. Survivors were transferred to other vessels at sea in a dramatic early-morning rescue effected in calm water.

Naval authorities attributed the explosion to accidental ignition of fuel oil being transferred from one tank to another. The blast blew up the boiler room, killing several sailors, and destroyed the liner's entire first class section.

Spread of the resultant fire is still being investigated.

Doesn't Believe Arkansas Was Hurled Into Air

By FRANK B. ALLEN
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

BKINI, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Rear Adm. W. S. Parsons, crossroads technical director, said today that the sunken carrier Saratoga may have struck the bottom of 180-foot deep Bikini lagoon in the maelstrom caused by the underwater atomic explosion a week ago.

Parsons said it was possible that the 33,000-ton flattop was carried downward as the huge atomic water spout rushed back to the floor of the lagoon which had been temporarily barred. He added:

"It is conceivable that the Saratoga could not have been hurled very far into the air by the sub-surface blast because one of her masts was still intact."

Parsons said he did not believe that the Arkansas which sank immediately after the blast was tossed up lengthwise as some observers thought. He said a closer examination of pictures indicated that a dark spot in the photos was mistaken for the ship. The spot, Parsons said, was due to a groove cut in the water column as it hurtled up from beneath the Arkansas.

Palestine Plan U. S. Opposition Is Indication

President Truman However
Expresses Hope For Early Settlement Of Issues

U. S. ATTITUDE MAY BE CHANGED

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—President Truman today flatly denied reports from London that he had been in telephonic communication with British Prime Minister Clement Attlee on the United States position toward the Palestine participation plan.

Mr. Truman made the denial at a news conference.

The president was asked whether he had consulted with Mr. Attlee on American opposition to the Palestine plan.

The president replied that he has not been in consultation with Mr. Attlee at all. While Mr. Truman made no reference to the question referring to American opposition, he did not deny that the United States opposed the plan.

He added that he stood on yesterday's statement in which he called home Henry P. Grady, chief of the U. S. cabinet commission in London, and his colleagues for consultation.

Hope For Early Settlement

In that statement Mr. Truman reiterated his hope for an early settlement of the problem.

New Evidences In Heirens' Case

Hunting Knife Is Found
Which Was Part Of Heirens' Loot, Police Say

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Prosecutors were busy today shaping up the case against William Heirens, accused of the dismemberment murder of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan and the "lipstick" murder of Francis Brown, an ex-Wave.

A hunting knife found on the right-of-way of the elevated electric lines, not far from the Degnan home, was identified as part of the loot taken in one of Heirens' many burglaries.

State's Attorney William Tuohy charged Heirens threw the knife from the window of an elevated train while en route to the University of Chicago, after committing the heinous crime. Tuohy said:

"This is undoubtedly one of the strongest pieces of circumstantial evidence yet uncovered in the case against Heirens."

The knife was identified by Guy F. Rodrick, 21, as having been stolen from his apartment last December 3.

The Rodrick loot also included a 22 caliber pistol, which was found in Heirens' apartment room.

Oh, where those spuds like the catalogue showed, and where those tomatoes so red, and where are the cabbages fourteen pounds weight, that's just what the catalogue said. My neighbor is puzzled at what he has raised, it seems so much different to him; he worked in the spring and he's weeded and hoed with vigor and masculine vim. But the spuds are so small and tomatoes the same, my neighbor is just a bit sore, he believes what he saw in the seed catalogue; the weather is seventy-four.

SENATE FACES BITTER BATTLE

U. S. Adherence To Compulsory Arbitration Of International Disputes Is Issue

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The senate today faced a bitter battle over United States adherence to compulsory arbitration of international disputes by a United Nations world court.

Sen. Morse (R) Ore., threatened to throw a monkey-wrench into leaders' plans for congressional adjournment sine die tomorrow by insisting that the senate tackle the controversial issue before giving immediate opposition a vote on the historic battle which has wracked the senate and the nation periodically since the close of World War I was on again. A parliamentary tangle quickly developed which the senate was to attempt to unravel today.

Formerly Rejected
On three separate occasions the senate rejected American adherence to the old League of Nations world court, the last time in Jan. 1935, when it was defeated 52 to 36. Then as now a two-thirds majority was required. The present proposal, a senate resolution sponsored by 15 Democratic and Republican senators, authorizes President Truman to file with the secretary general of the United Nations a declaration recognizing for the United States the compulsory jurisdiction of the international court of justice in international disputes.

The declaration would remain in force for five years and thereafter for six months after notice was given by the United States that it was withdrawing from compulsory arbitration. The United States is now a member of the court by adherence to the United Nations charter, but without senate action can not be brought into the court by any other nation for adjudication of an international dispute without its consent.

TRACTOR UPSSETS DRIVER IS KILLED

Mrs. Michael Brian, Sr. in addition to residing in Cleveland he lived for some time in Pulaski township and recently located in New Castle.

Mr. Brian was a World War II veteran, holding the rank of technical sergeant. He served for 36 months in service and a year in the South Pacific, attached to the fifth aircraft repair unit, U. S. Army Air Corps.

In addition to his wife, Mrs. Vera Brian, he is survived by his son, Michael, Jr., and step-mother, Mrs. Josephine Brian, Cleveland; two sons, Mrs. Anna Velna and Mrs. Joseph Mazie, and two half-sisters, Josephine and Mary, and a half-brother, Joseph, of Cleveland, O.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning, the time and place to be announced. The body will be removed from the residence, 8 Fulton street, this afternoon at 5 o'clock, where friends may call.

CONGRESS SESSION IS SLATED TO END SOMETIME FRIDAY

One was the $3,750,000,000 British loan, approved without change by both the senate and house. Others in the field of foreign affairs, were approval of United States participation in the United Nations organizations, and the so-called Bretton Woods financial proposals.

Many domestic requests were adopted in a watered-down version, while others were ignored entirely. Only a handful were adopted in substantially the form requested.

Fall Of Final Action
Among the measures asked by Mr. Truman but not receiving final action were: fact-finding labor legislation, increased unemployment insurance, a permanent fair employment practice commission, increased minimum wages, a public health medical welfare bill, a program to integrate scientific research and development, universal military training, manager of the war and navy departments, presidential succession in case of death, crop insurance extension, development of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway, a federal long-range housing program, and the emergency "labor-draft" bill.

Besides Bretton Woods, British loan, and unparticipation, President Truman was successful in obtaining legislative action on:

Salary increases for government employees, domestic control for development of atomic energy under civilian jurisdiction, sale of surplus merchant ships, extension of the second war powers act containing federal authority to grant priorities and allocations for scarce materials, an emergency housing program with 400 million dollars in federal subsidies, extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program, the bill to "streamline" congress and increase legislators' pay, and a six billion dollar tax reduction bill.

Successful In Part
He was successful, in part, on the following requests, which congress enacted into law in a form only partially approved by the White House. These were:

Full employment, extension of OPA, extension of the draft law, federal retention of the United States employment service until November 15 (Mr. Truman had asked control until July 1, 1947), stockpiling of critical materials and repeal of the Johnson act barring loans to foreign nations.

Still pending as congress neared the end of its sessions was revision of the social security laws. The 76th congress appropriated funds—mostly for war—totaling almost one hundred billion dollars, but after the end of hostilities cancelled some sixty-four billions of dollars in appropriations made specifically for war purposes.

Card Of Thanks
To our many friends who expressed their love and kindness in our bereavement, we wish to extend our sincere thanks.

MEAD COMMITTEE SEFKS EVIDENCE ON DEFECTIVE SHELLS

Coffee admitted he may have done something "foolish" but denied that he did "anything criminal" in taking what he insisted was a campaign contribution in 1941. Anderson made the payment by check to Paul A. Olson, Coffee's secretary at the time, after the congressman helped him get a million dollar government contract.

James P. McGranery, assistant attorney general, told the committee that if the statute of limitations had not expired, he would have recommended that the Coffee-Anderson case be presented to a grand jury.

Turn To Other Probes

Conclusion of the Coffee hearings released Mead staff for preparation of other cases involving war profits, pre-Pearl Harbor defense construction at Hawaii and on the Alcan highway, and surplus property disposal.

Sen. Magnuson (D) Wash., tossed another suggestion in the committee's lap when he said in a senate speech he hoped the committee would investigate Gen. Breton Somervell, former chief of army service forces. Somervell, now a Pittsburgh engineering executive, was a witness in the Coffee hearings.

Magnuson charged that Somervell "squandered practically 300 million dollars without consulting the Canadian commission or the American commission on the Alaska highway and Canal project."

Committee members themselves have hinted that Somervell might be called to testify in pending war contract matters.

tion appeared certain as a result of the president's action in recalling his emissaries handling negotiations in London.

Observers believed that the chief executive planned a full reconsideration of the United States attitude on the recommendations of the Anglo-American Palestine commission. This group, appointed in response to popular demand, recommended that 100,000 Jews from Europe be admitted at once to Palestine.

The commission made numerous other recommendations, however, regarding the rights of Arabs and Christians in the holy land and for the economic development of the Arab states.

Under Study In London

These recommendations, which had the general approval of Mr. Truman, have been under study in London by an Anglo-American cabinet committee. It was this meeting that Mr. Truman interrupted by his directions to Ambassador Henry F. Grady and other members of the mission to return home for consultation.

The gesture was interpreted in some quarters as indicating dissatisfaction with the recommendations of the cabinet committee. These included:

1. Partition of Palestine into separate Arab and Jewish states with a federal government to handle state problems in which Britain would have a voice under Palestine mandate.

2. Donation by the U. S. of fifty million dollars to the Arabs in Palestine and 200 million to all Arab states to further their economic development. Britain would underwrite the fifteen million dollar annual budget deficit of the Arab states.

In order to conceal their bad work directors of these enterprises deceived the state by presenting wrong reports. Often these faked figures were made up for illegally receiving bank credits, but also for the pecuniary purpose of obtaining personal bonuses.

Sense Of Humor

Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, made one statement that deserves considerable thought when he spoke at an interstate medical meeting at Chautauque, N. Y. Dr. Fishbein said that a sense of humor helps people to live longer.

Of course, it is unquestionable that a sense of humor lightens burdens that otherwise would be almost unbearable and therefore it makes easier the pathway through life. But a person in order to live long needs a sense of humor regarding longevity, too. Unfortunately, doctors have to speak of longevity as an objective in itself, leaving it to the layman to wrinkle his brows over adequate insurance payments and other security in his declining days.

People cannot give themselves a sense of humor any more than they can give themselves ancestors noted for longevity, but it is a gift of nature that everyone thinks he possesses. Yet it is only others who know whether one has a sense of humor or not. One frequently hears a most somber and serious person say: "Now it's a good thing I have a sense of humor, or . . ." Bystanders wonder.

Dr. Fishbein outlined a few directions for a long and healthy life which come within the possibility of being achieved. These he listed as low blood pressure, low metabolism and low diet. There may be instances in which the first two cannot be controlled, but there is no question about the controllability of the latter. Diet, it is presumed, includes food and drink, so it still requires a sense of humor to walk away and leave a drink ordered by the man who hasn't treated for two months.

Fire Conscious

It generally takes disaster to bring action against negligence. This is particularly true in the case of fire prevention. Even in big cities where it is doubly important to observe fire regulations, fire safety provisions are violated constantly. When a disastrous fire hits one of the big cities in the nation, there is a feverish attempt to reduce potential fire hazards.

New York City is carrying on two separate inspections in an effort to avoid a repetition of disasters such as occurred in Illinois, Iowa, and Texas hotels. One, to examine each hotel and file appropriate remedial orders where it is found necessary to have additional exits, or enclose stair wells and elevator shafts. The other is to enforce compliance with fire prevention measures and laws. It will report violations such as illegal cooking, illegal alterations, blocking of exit stairs and fire towers, defective fire escapes, accumulations of waste, and other fire hazards. After this double-barreled inspection is completed, recommendations will be made for improved laws and regulations to eliminate sub-standard design and construction.

The country is taking fire prevention seriously for a while. Every city and hamlet can cooperate and prevent disaster that brings ruin and death without warning.

Ilya's Return

There is cause to be worried about Ilya Ehrenburg. Ilya, it will be recalled, was the Russian newspaper correspondent who recently made a tour of the United States and wrote a series of high critical articles about what he found here. But on his return to Moscow Ilya has committed the unpardonable offense of expressing a few critical views about the Soviet Union.

Russians, says Ilya, have some faults themselves. They are bureaucratic, they are occasionally rude, and they are technically backward. Their telephone service, he says, isn't too good and their movie-makers could learn something from Hollywood.

It looks suspiciously as though Comrade Ehrenburg had been infected with the freedom of speech he affected to despise in New York. It is to be doubted whether this will do him any good among his friends and admirers in the Soviet government. And this is almost certain to strengthen the determination of Soviet officials not to let Russians travel abroad or learn what goes on beyond their own frontiers.

If this can happen to a comrade as devoted and trustworthy as Ilya, who knows what would happen to other Russians if they once got a glimpse of benighted, uncommunized America and had a chance to taste the intoxicating delights of speaking their minds freely?

Americans Still Saving

Higher prices are leading reasons why individual Americans are saving only about half as much as they did a year ago. Reduced income and some unemployment have also been factors in cutting the amounts people can save; but the Federal Department of Commerce reports no such slump in national income as would alone account for a decided drop in savings.

It is possible that this reduction in savings may be the prelude to consumer resistance to still higher prices. Contrary to some impressions abroad and at home, Americans are not a nation of spendthrifts. Most American families appreciate the need of laying something aside for a rainy day, and when prices rise too high many are disposed to cut purchases rather than live up to every cent they earn.

Federal Reserve officials say there is no rush to cash war bonds. The redemption rate has actually declined in recent weeks, indicating that after those who are less careful with their savings have converted them into spendable cash the great majority are holding on to their government bonds.

This conservative disposition of Americans not to squander their reserves is coming to be our chief reliance against a disastrous inflation. If the Federal Government will encourage citizens who want to save by applying sound fiscal judgment to the national budget the forces of inflation may yet be turned back.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Fears Backfiring Of Munitions Probe

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Indignation over the Garsson-Munitions business boils up like hot tar out of a blistering pavement. It is an easy summer-time emotion, calculated to take the mind off current problems.

But it's important, it seems to me, to consider a point of view that has been given little or no expression since the start of the weird pageant of greed put on before the Mead committee. It is the point of view of the professional soldier—not the Pentagon colonels, but the men who directed the fighting in the mud and muck of actual combat.

These are the men who will have to fight the next war which some people in this country seem so anxious to promote—including some of those who are exploiting the Garsson mess with the loudest shrieks of righteous indignation. Here, in brief, is what these professional soldiers say.

They point out that, while the Garsson profits sound large today, they are actually minute in comparison to the vast sums spent in the war. They discount the rumors of future scandals to come, since congressional investigators have combed the files and have come up with nothing larger than the Garsson affair.

The professional soldier, who used the 4.2 mortar shell is deeply disturbed by the stress put on defective shells in relation to the profits of the Garsson combine. He knows that one of the grim facts about wholesale war is that a certain percentage of defects turn up which do their share of the killing.

Delights Pacifists
These men are disturbed because they know such exploitation will serve to disarm us at a time when our strength and stability might check the kind of aggression that can lead to another war. It will disarm us morally and spiritually. It delights those who, like the Communists, want to see this nation disarmed.

We as Americans ought to do a little soul-searching over our attitude toward these same professional soldiers. We should try to keep a little of the back-ground in view in spite of summer-time emotions. We have always treated our professional military like step-children or like museum pieces. We starve them and ignore them. Then, in times of crisis, we turn to them with a desperate demand to save us.

During two tours of the European theater of the war, I saw a lot of waste and nonsense and folly. Generals had taken over Noble Chateaux and had established themselves with retinues of cup-bearers. They had taken over the like hotels. And when they traveled, it was with the splendor of a reigning maharajah, in special trains and specially equipped planes.

Not More Of It Is Wonder
Of course, it made for discontent among the G. I's. The wonder to me was that, there was so much of it but that, comparatively speaking, there was so little of it. The miracle was that able, devoted, selfless men like Gen. Omar N. Bradley came to the fore.

Human nature is human nature whether in uniform or out. These professional soldiers, suddenly given power over vast resources and over the lives of millions of men, had previously spent their days in sun-baked shacks, along the dusty parade grounds in outposts in Kansas and New Mexico. The fact that they seem to have been so little corrupted by the massive power placed in their hands overnight is a tribute to the pattern of discipline out of which they came.

Little enough has been said of the major fault disclosed by the Mead committee hearings. That is the weakness of the committee system in Congress, a system which the La Follette-Moynihan bill has done little to change.

Says May Under For Post
By virtue of seniority, Representative Andrew J. May became chairman of the House military affairs committee, a position of great power in the midst of a war. He was unflinching in every way for that post.

Little has been said before the Mead committee about the true sources of the lobby that got the 1872 law on contract renegotiations repealed. It came, I am convinced, from big business. Maj. Gen. William N. Porter, who acted as head of the contract warfare service to take a cushy job with one of the big firms he had been dealing with, was treated very gently by the committee.

In 1934 and '35, we had a munitions investigation that might have been used to rationalize our system of military supply. Instead, it was exploited in such a way that the net effect was to disarm this country in the face of the Nazi plan for world domination. Let's not forget that today!

Hints On Etiquette

Don't invite a girl for a date three or four months in advance, and then say no more about it, leaving her in ignorance whether the date holds or not. Two or three weeks in advance is time enough to give an invitation for a big date, and then mention it occasionally before the occasion is due.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed by International News Service)
The latest in transportation is a spun-glass car (Howard Darrin) and a 60-foot bus (Henry Kaiser) . . . They sound like natural enemies to me.

I just hope that when the all-glass car passes the 60-foot bus on a crowded two-lane highway somebody is standing by with a broom and dustpan.

But I suppose that's one advantage of a glass car . . . you'd save towing charges after an accident.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

I sat in on a spirited discussion on the right or wrong of the recent confiscation of a book by the New York Anti-Vice Society.

I shall not give the book any further publicity, because I understand that after its confiscation the sales soared and a lively black-market trade was carried on, with premium being paid by eager purchasers.

I read the book. It is one of the filthiest things I have ever read and I can see no reason for its writing except to cater to the foul-minded, the salacious, the morose.

The book nauseated me and made me ashamed to have its author as one of my colleagues in the writing profession.

Yet, I am against its confiscation. I am against all confiscation.

Nobody forces you to buy, rent or read dirty books or to see dirty plays and dirty movies.

Nobody forces you to listen to a radio program that is not to your liking or to see a show that you know to be salacious.

But, confiscation or suppression will never cure the evil.

Greedy authors would not write dirty books nor money-hungry publishers publish them if they did not know that there is a wide market for them.

But you cannot eliminate greed and money-lust from this earth unless you first kill the taste for filth and snot.

In my opinion the anti-vice society should do what the Chinese doctors are paid to do—prevent illness rather than cure it.

The use of alcohol has never been decreased by the confiscation or suppression of alcohol.

As long as the taste is there, there will be alcohol. As long as people will never cure the evil.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

No doubt our old pet . . . paving of North Mercer street . . . will be laid back on the desk where the dust is thick. Several weeks ago a gooey mess of tar was spread over a limestone base on part of North Mercer street . . . and the dust does not raise in front of the homes in that section today. Evidently this will be sufficient for the time being . . . but it really doesn't answer the problem completely . . . the distance between the freshly oiled section and the brick pavement is still plenty rough and dusty . . . what will happen to that section?

One item that we need here in New Castle . . . seriously now some very deep and concentrating thought should be given to the possibility of establishing a real honest-to-goodness baseball park. A place where enough room would permit fast games . . . a place where homes are not too near that a pop fly would break a window or endanger the lives of small children. A field that could be fitted with lights for night games. A field that would boast of seating capacity for hundreds of fans.

Our school system supports a football field . . . a beautiful unit in itself. The turf is always in excellent condition and visiting teams like to come to New Castle to play. The seating capacity is sufficient most of the time to accommodate the fans. But how many days out of each year is the field used? Not very many . . . and time after time requests for using the field have been turned down.

Therefore it only seems reasonable that a baseball park . . . eventually equal to the football park should be established here in our community. More baseball games are played per season than football games . . . and a baseball park could be used by a greater number of citizens than the present football field is used by . . . therefore the cost of such an expenditure would be returned much quicker than the football expenditure has been returned.

Proper authorities should take this topic and do some talking and arguing about it . . . Now is the time to make definite plans.

The World and the Mud Puddles

No. 19

POWER OF FEDERAL COURTS
The judicial power of the United States is provided for in Article III of the Constitution.

Section 1. The judicial power of the United States, shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services, a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Section 2. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states, between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects.

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

"The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes have been committed, but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed."

Section 3. Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture except during the life of the person attained."

Section 1 states that the judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court and such inferior courts as congress may establish from time to time. The judges of the supreme court shall be the only officers of the United States that hold their office practically for life and as a reward for their services, a salary fixed by congress that shall not be diminished.

A federal judge holds the only office in the United States the tenure of which is his life and the salary of which cannot be diminished. By implication it can be increased and has been so increased so that a justice of the supreme court now receives a yearly salary of twenty thousand dollars and the chief justice, five hundred dollars more.

Section 2 defines the extent of their judicial power. So great has been this power that the supreme court possesses today the greatest power in the United States—greater than the president, greater than congress. It can declare any law Alaska was unconstitutional. But they see fit, and which is brought before it properly, void and of no effect.

The third paragraph of Section 2 insures every individual charged with crime a trial by jury.

Paragraph one of Section 3 defines treason and provides that the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act shall be necessary to convict any citizen of treason. That provision played a very important part in the trial of Aaron Burr. They could not get two witnesses to testify to the same act. And the second paragraph of the punishment for treason. And there is where the constitution forbids any attainder of treason, which means that neither the property of the person convicted of treason nor the property of any of his children shall be taken by attachment, that being covered by the reference to "corruption of blood."

Th bill of attainder was a famous method of punishment by which the kings of England pursued the enemies within the kingdom.

Both the Alaska highway and the Richardson highway were subjected to extraordinarily heavy traffic during the war, and will require extensive repair work.

The Alaska Road commission, a unit of the Department of Interior, already has started repair and construction work which must be done during the summer months, to put the territory's 2,800-odd miles of roads in good condition.

Two new roads, for which Congress has initially appropriated $1,360,000, will be built to supplement existing highways and open more of Alaska to tourists, and provide farmers with an access to markets.

Much work remains to be done on existing roads in reducing excessive grades and curves and in replacing inadequate bridges. For this reason, tourist travel is not encouraged.

There already is some travel over the Alaska highway through Canada and Alaska, but the road is not open to tourist travel in general because of the lack of facilities such as filling stations, repair shops and eating and sleeping accommodations, Arnold said. It is expected that the road will be ready for increasing tourist travel in 1947.

Alaska is an ideal vacation land. Only lack of adequate transportation prevents it from being more fully exploited. From a tourist viewpoint, the country offers every delight.

The highway winds through forests and cuts through scenic mountain ranges. Both the United States and Canada have set aside a strip of land on each side of the route for the control of its development.

The Alcan, as the road was then known, was started in 1942 by Army engineers, who smashed ahead with a pioneer road. They were followed by contractors of the Public Roads Administration who widened and paved it.

Critics and skeptics said it could not be done. To build a road through the wilderness of British Columbia, the Yukon and eastern Alaska was unthinkable. But they overlooked the ability and resourcefulness of Army engineers and American and Canadian contractors.

At the incredible rate of eight miles per day, they built an 1,800-mile double lane route across the north-west wilderness.

They threw up more than 200 timber bridges, and placed some 6,000 culverts. Many of the larger bridges have since been replaced by permanent steel structures.

The Alaska highway starts at Dawson Creek, British Columbia. It crosses Peace river, nearly 2,000 feet wide, passes through Fort St. John and Fort Nelson, the latter an old trading post.

At Fort Nelson the road turns west, following river valleys. It crosses the Rockies at an elevation of 4,210 feet. This is the highest point on the highway.

Continuing north, it enters Yukon territory at Watson Lake, and reaches Whitehorse, principal city of the Yukon. Still following river valleys, it crosses the Alaska border and winds on into Big Delta.

The highway ends here, although the traveler who is continuing on must use the Richardson highway which runs from Valdez to Fairbanks. Fairbanks is 88 miles northwest from Big Delta.

Rev. Fr. Sullivan Tells Kiwanians Of Army Experiences

Wampum Pastor Served Overseas With Ninth Army During Fighting Against Nazis

Rev. Fr. George Sullivan, pastor of St. Monica's church of Wampum, who returned several months ago after spending almost five years in the service as chaplain with the U. S. army, gave an interesting talk to members of the New Castle Kiwanis club at their luncheon meeting in The Castleton, Wednesday noon.

Rev. Fr. Sullivan told of many of his personal experiences, some of them humorous, some of them filled with pathos. He served with the 39th division of the ninth army in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany, and told of conditions in these countries.

While the people in these countries were living on reduced rations, the arrival of our troops was a godsend, he related, as our soldiers shared their rations with them, even to the extent of purloining food from their own commissary. With none of this extra food available now, he was of the opinion that the natives, particularly those who were our allies, are now suffering while we live in a land of comparative plenty.

He was of the opinion that the United States should adopt a stronger policy in their dealings with the Russians. He stated that when our troops arrived in Italy and Germany, they found the pictures of their dictators in every home. The Russians impose the same restrictions on the peoples of the captured countries, forcing them to display pictures of Stalin. The Americans and British, however, do not require them to pay recognition to our rulers.

He deplored the fact that there are too many selfish persons serving in congress and in high places in our government. He felt that we should see to it that those who represent us are there for the good of the country, and not for their individual selves.

Strouss-Hirshberg's Return To Peace Time Didn't End Troubles Says Police Woman

When the war ended, many of the cases brought before city police-woman Mrs. Bessie Dukes also ended, but her job is by no means without its problems now.

The problems she has to consider, however, are not those resulting from the unusual circumstances and strained feelings of the war years, but are the ones which go on forever in any year.

Nothing Else To Do They result from bad home life or lack of recreation for youngsters on vacation, or are the result of misdirected youthful "devilishness". The biggest problem facing the police right now, says Mrs. Dukes, is the amount of petty thievery and vandalism being perpetrated by boys between the ages of nine and 15.

Girls of that age are hardly any trouble at all, she adds. It's when they get older that the police-woman gets acquainted with them, and now that the war is over and the soldiers have left the army camps for their own home towns, Mrs. Dukes sees fewer and fewer of the young women who used to be trouble makers.

"It was pretty rough for a while there," she admits, "but the situation was completely artificial. Nothing was just as it should be when the war was on."

Not Just Temporary "Now, however," Mrs. Dukes continues, "the problems we face are very real ones, caused by things that are wrong in our community and our education and home life. These things are not temporary troubles which will end when an armistice is signed; they are problems which will have to be dealt with carefully and wisely in order to eliminate the basic causes."

These problems are by no means limited to New Castle, the police-woman and other members of the police force pointed out. In fact, New Castle's delinquency record is much lower than that of the average town this size.

Arrest Three Key Operators Of Narcotic Ring

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Arrest of three "top men" in an alleged dope ring that ran heroin and morphine by auto, train and plane from New York to Chicago was announced Wednesday by the federal bureau of narcotics.

Arrested in a waiting room at La Guardia airport as they were about to board a Chicago plane were John Salvatore Casablanca, 34, and Tom J. Toscano, 38, both of New York.

Casablanca's brother, Joseph, 32, was arrested in Chicago and will be returned to New York. Federal agents said John Casablanca was carrying a parcel a foot square and four inches deep which contained 2,500 one-quarter grain morphine tablets and three ounces of pure heroin.

The heroin, they said, would make 120 ounces in the adulterated form in which it reaches the addict costing him about $25 an ounce.

The addict would pay up to $3 for each morphine tablet, they said.

Col. Garland H. Williams, head of the bureau here, said he believed the narcotics had been stolen from legitimate drug houses, a principal source of supply since foreign markets in illicit narcotics were disrupted by the war.

Live 27 Years In Same House, Then Moves Next Door

For the past 27 years, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Gentile, and family, have lived in a cottage 1101 North Croton avenue, where Vine street intersects. They have watched the neighborhood grow up, they have seen neighbors come and go, but liking the area so well, they have just stuck around. The past few days, much activity has been manifested in the Gentile household, curtains have come down, furniture has been disarranged and the general routine of the house has been upset. Neighbors thought perhaps they had grown tired of their surroundings and were heading for other parts. "Not so," Mrs. Gentile revealed, "we're just moving next door to 1031, as we feel that we deserve more room after spending over a quarter of a century in the same small house. We've bought the house next to us so we could have a little more breathing space". The family is proud of the community and ready to participate in any activity that goes on in the neighborhood.

President Calls For Economies

Directs Expenditures Of All Departments Be Cut To Minimum

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—President Truman struck another blow at nationwide inflation threats today by issuing a blanket directive to all government departments and agencies to cut expenditures to a minimum.

The chief executive asserted bluntly that: "The present inflationary situation and the need for reducing the public debt make it imperative that expenditures be held at the lowest possible level."

"Our present fiscal situation is a most serious one. We are faced with a continued substantial budget deficit in the present fiscal year."

"Even those federal expenditures which are most necessary have the effect of increasing inflationary pressures in the total national economy."

"We must do everything within our power to reduce inflationary pressures. One of the most effective means of doing this is to reduce federal expenditures."

Calls For Economies
Mr. Truman told the heads of the federal departments and agencies that he expects to see them effect substantial economies in their budgets during the fiscal year of 1947.

He asserted that he had especially called upon the war and navy departments and the maritime commission "to reduce expenditures substantially below the amounts they had previously programmed for this fiscal year."

"The president further said that public works commitments and actual construction must be postponed as far as possible."

He called on the heads of the departments and agencies to review their entire fiscal program.

He said: "In view of the present fiscal situation, you should not hesitate to eliminate work of low priority. In addition to such major curtailments as may be possible, smaller economies must not be overlooked."

Conference Plan Of Reuther May Prove Failure

DETROIT, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Henry Ford II led the automotive manufacturers today in what threatens to develop into an industry snub of UAW President Walter P. Reuther's conference, called for tomorrow to discuss production troubles.

Ford suggested to Reuther that the "UAW-CIO do something about the current strikes in 16 plants" supplying the Ford Motor company. The supplier strikes, Ford said, threaten to halt all production in the company's plants in less than a week.

Nash-Kelvinator President George W. Mason also declined to attend Reuther's planned meeting, commenting that the industry survey of strikes that Reuther made apparently "fails to take into account material shortages directly resulting from the numerous prolonged strikes which took place in coal, steel, electrical and automotive fields."

Want Private Talks
Mason said he is willing to sit down with Reuther privately but certainly would not discuss Nash supply shortages and the reasons for them with his competitors.

Studebaker President Paul C. Hoffman telegraphed Reuther from South Bend, Ind., that he preferred to discuss Studebaker's production troubles with UAW-CIO officials privately rather than at an industry-wide conference such as the union leader proposed.

Pointing out that Studebaker production was halted yesterday for the third time since July 1, because of suppliers' strikes, Hoffman offered to send a representative with a list of strikes that affected Studebaker production if Reuther insists.

Will Probably Decline
Although General Motors President C. E. Wilson has not yet replied to Reuther's invitation, Detroit observers predicted that he would follow Ford's lead and decline to attend the session.

General Motors announced that production rose last week, but so did the number of supplier strikes, jumping from 55 to 60 in two weeks. The GM statement called attention to the UAW-CIO being involved in 20 of the strikes, other CIO affiliates being involved in 35 and five involving AFL unions.

The other of the automotive "big three", Chrysler Corp., also remained silent on the Reuther conference bid, but there appeared little likelihood that it would be represented Friday.

Packard Motor Car company officials, too, remained quiet.

GIRL TAKES WEEK-END TRIP WITH MAN

"A young man and woman are considering spending a week-end at a summer resort about a hundred miles from here. They are not engaged. Is it proper, in this day, for them to go alone?"

Answer: It depends upon the ages of the couples involved. Some mature, unmarried men and women go on vacation together, despite the fact that it is still frowned upon by the fastidious.

A young girl, even in this day of freedom and defiance of conventions, should not go on an overnight trip with a man, unaccompanied by an older person, unless she does not care what the gossip says. This is so whether or not there is any just cause for gossip.

Seeing a girl and man enter a hotel elevator late at night gives scandal mongers an impetus to start the gossip ball rolling. Young girls are inclined to minimize the seriousness of this. They consider such advice old-fashioned nonsense. Just look around and you will discover that well-brought-up girls (modern and popular as they are) are closely watched by their parents who do not want them to run loose with every Tom, Dick and Harry who comes along. Nor are they permitted to go, unchaperoned, on overnight trips even with a fiancé, unless of course the trip is an overnight visit to the home of friends. Even the strictest parent would not be justified in vetoing such an arrangement if she puts a modicum of trust in her daughter or the young man.

Question: My mother is an invalid and our home is small. May I properly have my wedding reception in the home of a friend? I shall have a church ceremony.

Answer: This is perfectly proper. Be sure to specify the address on your invitations.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail pertinent replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped self-addressed envelopes.

Tips Decrease For New York Drivers

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The "dime tip" and the "skunk" that's about all a hack-driver meets nowadays.

During the war, rides that ticked the meter up to $1 were usually good for 20 cents. But now, the organization representing 1,800 New York cabbies testified, it's a "thin one" and seldom a "keep the change" and more "skunks."

The "skunk" is the guy who slinks out of a cab without a tip at all. This information came out during state hearings on tipping habits for tax purposes.

STREET CARS COLLIDE
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Twelve persons were slightly injured today when two street cars collided in Pittsburgh.

The injured, including five women, were treated at a Pittsburgh hospital.

James J. Bauers, operator of one of the cars, told police he was unable to stop the car because his controls stuck.

It was the second street car accident in three days. Seven persons were hurt last Tuesday when a street car crashed into the rear of another, police reported.

Wine consumption in the United States is approximately 112,000,000 gallons annually.

Should Voting Age Be Reduced To 18 Years? Some Ideas

In the general election in Georgia and in the South Carolina Democratic primary this year, 18 year olds voted.

When this news hit the front pages of the nation's newspapers, it created quite a furor. Youth organizations, political clubs and other units that have been advocating lowering the voting age for several years, took new life.

In Pennsylvania it would take an amendment to the state constitution to cut the voting age from 21 years. The most powerful agitation for the reduction of the voting age is: If a youth can shoulder a gun and fight a country's enemy, he is old enough to help decide what is done to the country that he fought for.

Little Concern Here
Here in New Castle all the intensity of feeling felt elsewhere, was lost. In attempting to question a cross-section of the city it was necessary to talk to persons from all walks of life. But to get an opinion on lowering the voting age, was indeed a chore. Persons hereabouts show little or no concern on the question. Those who were interested, are for it with the same argument as organized agitation. Those opposed to the issue did not want their names used in conjunction with their arguments. They believed it unpatriotic to say anything against our soldier boys voting, even though they didn't think they should.

Those hostile to dropping the voting age say, that because a youngster can be told how to use a gun to shoot another person does

Some Opinions

Since a barber shop is considered the best place for a political argument, the first one questioned on the voting age question, was a barber. Charles Chirozzi has been cutting hair and listening to political questions for years. He opines that if a kid can shoulder a gun why can't he shoulder a ballot.

At the same time, Frank Davelli, Jr., another barber in Charlie's shop, who is majoring in Business Administration at Youngstown College, believes that some 21 year olds are not qualified to vote, without giving that right to a lower age group. (Frank is a returned veteran, 22 years old).

Willis Fye, retired, of West Washington street, is the father of five boys and three girls. Two of his boys are ex-service-men and says, "If a boy is old enough at 18 to go to war with an enemy country, he is old enough at 18 to vote. The same goes for girls," Mr. Fye said.

"If a young man is old enough to fight, he is old enough to vote," voiced Ernie Drake, a photographer who was at work in his studio when asked about the voting age. "The same is true of girls," he continued, "who marry at 18." Laws of the country affect them the same at 18 as at 21.

On the issue concerning their right to vote, the 18 and 19 year olds in New Castle, seem quite content to let their elders do the voting for them. They are not clamoring for the rights and privileges of voting. Most of those of that age group are too busy trying to get a college education, particularly the ex-G. I.s.

It was common opinion among all those who would talk on the question was that our young people should study more about the country and its laws and government. Youths lack of responsibility and complete disinterest in political matters is the main draw-back in lowering the voting age at this time.

In the first Jack Dempsey-Genie Tunney fight, Dempsey received $711,868 and Tunney received $204,000. In their second fight Dempsey received $425,000 and Tunney received $980,445.

In the shooting that followed, one of the policemen John W. Constable, 36, was killed. Jones was killed by the other. (International)

Reject Cloture On Anti-Poll Tax Bill By 39 To 33

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The senate Wednesday rejected for the third time in six years an attempt to impose cloture and thus force a vote on the controversial anti-poll tax bill.

The vote was 39 to 33, less than the two-thirds majority required under senate rules to limit debate and forestall a filibuster by southern senators.

The vote on cloture, adopted only four times in the senate's history, was taken even before the filibuster got under way in an attempt to dispose of the house-approved legislation without "extended debate".

Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky, who filed the cloture petition, said its defeat heralded the death-knell for further consideration of the bill, which bans poll taxes in seven southern states as a condition of voting.

Raps Chemical Warfare General

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Sen. Mitchell (D) Wash., a member of the Mead committee, today bitterly criticized Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, chief of the chemical warfare service and questioned Waitt's fitness for his job.

At the same time Mitchell charged that certain government officials gave to Murray and Henry Garsson of the Garsson munitions empire special favors which he said "involved outright corruption".

The senator declared that seemingly "fantastic and impossible" financial manipulations were involved in the award of government contracts to the Garssons.

Mitchell in his blistering attack on Waitt told the senate that the general "found time to go to fancy parties, even as American boys spilled blood—because somebody fell down on the job".

Shades Of Autumn Strike Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Shades of autumn!

A thick smog hung over Pittsburgh yesterday forcing disruption of all airline traffic.

The low-ceiling also forced Harry Flook, a former combat veteran from Cumberland, Md., to land his plane on the William Penn highway near Pittsburgh.

Flook was piloting Bart Lyons, a corporation executive from Cumberland to Brackenridge, Pa., when the weather "socked in" and caused him to make the emergency landing.

The pair took off an hour later after the weather lifted.

Orchestra Plays On But House Is Empty

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—(INS)—There won't be any patrons in Philadelphia's Coronet restaurant tonight—but Maestro Jules Lavan's seven-piece orchestra will see to it that the joint is jumpin'.

In fact—Lavan's band has been playing to an empty house for the past five weeks. No bright lights, no airconditioning and worst of all—no applause. But the band plays on. It was just five weeks ago that Joseph Fine and Dan Gerson bought the restaurant—and closed it the same day.

Then they discovered that the orchestra's contract was good for five more weeks. "Look boys," said Fine, "we won't re-open until August 2, so we won't need you around."

That, said Lavan in effect, will cost you five weeks pay. Refuses Compromise. Fine offered a compromise settlement. Lavan refused. Either play with pay, or pay without play, but he had a contract, Lavan added.

"Okav," said Fine, "I like music, so we'll have music—every night on contract schedule."

Since then, Lavan's boys have been making music—$3102 worth of it—for the benefit of the owners and a few of their friends.

The first few nights, the boys in the orchestra came in their customary tuxedos. Now—with one night left of their contract—they're down to shirts and suspenders.

Once in a while, they get a little competition as carpenters and painters hammer and work away at new decorations. Last night, the chorus for tomorrow's opening show went through its routines—and Lavan and the six other ex-GI's obligingly went through their numbers.

Occasionally, a passer-by hears the music on the street and drops in. One night, a slightly inebriated gent became indignant because no one would serve him.

"The joints jumpin' and I can't even get a drink," he moaned. The band played on. "No hard feelings, you understand," said Fine. "It's just that I like music."

The band played on. Now, says Lavan, the boys are wondering what they'll do after tonight—when they'll be without jobs as well as an audience.

SUCOTASH

Shem, Ham and Japheth or some of their distant relations found out that foods in combination with each other worked better than when eaten alone by themselves.

They did not know much about proteins and vitamins but they did know something about hard work and the need for good food.

Protein is a necessity for good health. There are different kinds of protein. One kind does not work very well without help from another kind.

Corn has one kind of protein; beans has another kind; milk has another kind. When these various kinds of protein are eaten together the combination is good.

Methuselah must have found some pretty good combinations to keep him alive so long.

We may not live as long as he did but the right kind of food will help to keep us comfortable while we do live.

MERCHANTS ATTACKED

MISKOC, Hungary, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Police reported that two Jewish corn merchants, charged with violating ceiling prices in inflation-conscious Hungary, were attacked by crowds today and hanged in the market-place.

One died and the other was hurt seriously before being removed from a makeshift gallows. The assault occurred while police were transferring the two men to a detention camp.

Used Reformatory Inmates As Guinea Pigs For Malaria

Patriotism Of Rahway, New Jersey, Reformatory Inmates Is Pointed Out

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 1.—(INS)—Officials of the state department of institutions and agencies are proud of the patriotism of inmates at the Rahway reformatory displayed during World War II.

Sanford Bates, state commissioner of institutions and agencies, has received a letter from the board of coordination and malarial studies in Washington, praising the inmates of the institution for participating in malaria tests.

After the Japanese captured the Dutch East Indies and cut off the supply of quinine, the federal board gathered all samples of atabrine and sent them to Rahway reformatory to find out which was the least toxic but still effective against malaria.

Number Of Volunteers

A call for human guinea pigs went out at the institution during the summer of 1942. A large number of inmates volunteered to participate in the tests though they were warned of possible consequences. Two hundred and fifty men took part in the first tests to determine the toxicity of atabrine as well as its effective blood level concentration. After a long period the atabrine was given in frequent doses. The men suffered from nausea, abdominal cramps and diarrhea. In later tests 64 additional inmates took part. Later ten inmates volunteered to be injected with malaria germs to determine the prophylactic level reached in the blood stream was adequate to ward off the disease. Not a single one contracted malaria.

Gaston Playground Holds 'Bums' Day

Wednesday afternoon was a hilarious day at the Gaston Park playground, when playground supervisor, Venetia Fazzone, held a "Bums' Day" for the children. For Bums' Day, all the children were to come dressed at their conception of a hobo. There was a fine response, with a good turn out of contestants. One sharp omission was noted, no boys shared in the event.

Besides the three prize winners, there were two honorable mentions. First place was given to Laura Llewellyn for being the most typical bum. Second place ribbon was awarded to Carol Liprich for her humorous costume and make-up. Third place went to Shirley Theiss, who was dressed as a gypsy. Third place was a difficult choice with Clara Candioti, also dressed as a gypsy, receiving honorable mention. Valerrie Lawson was given the other honorable mention for her odd affair that she made by her self.

Judges for the event were Charles Thompson, Shirley Buckley and Barbara Llewellyn.

Venetia Fazzone, who has been one of the supervisors at the Gaston Park grounds for some time, has resigned her post. The position will be filled by Edice Norris, who will assume the responsibilities today.

There's No Substitute for a Doctor's Prescription

When you're ill, there are always people who feel qualified to suggest a remedy for what they think ails you. They can usually remember when they "felt" as you do, and they'll tell you eagerly what they did about it—or repeat what someone told them to do or take. If you follow their well meant but meaningless advice, you may regret it dearly. NEVER let "Ben Told" prescribe for you. When you're ill, see your doctor at once. There's no substitute for his authoritative and effective prescription. Take the medicine he prescribes until he advises you to stop. Let no one "unsell" you on your doctor's prescribed medicine.

Bum's Day Held In Ward Playground

Bunch Of Bums' Invade Playground And Present Slapstick Comedy Program

Peace which might have reigned at the Mahoning playground on Wednesday afternoon was disrupted when a "bunch of bums" invaded the site, the afternoon being known as Bums' Day.

The children came dressed accordingly, and the prize bum of the afternoon was Joe Sparano, with his made-up black face, imitation cigar, patched trousers and bum's pack. Jackie Natale was the next winner, in an oversize bum's attire, and umbrella, which he carried, and a box of stale crackers, which he shared with his fellow bums.

Fred Rainey won the prize as well-dressed bum, with his cowboy hat and shirt. David Muntean received the award of honorable mention.

Later in the afternoon, Joe Sparano and Jackie Natale entertained the children of the playground with an impromptu comedy skit, which was well received by the children. The playground director in Mahoningtown is Miss Angeline Castucci.

Middletown Will Be Flight Control Center For Planes

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Aug. 1.—(INS)—Establishment of the Army's Olmsted field effective September 1 as a military flight control center for airships flying over eastern states was announced today by the Middletown air materiel area's public relations office.

Col. David E. Stinson, commandant, explained that the center would assume the military flight coverage of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Military flights, he said, would be monitored in the area from Maine to North Carolina and west to the Ohio and Kentucky borders.

Bank Is Filled With Tear Gas

AUDUBON, N. J., Aug. 1.—(INS)—Employees of the Audubon National bank hoped to carry on business as usual today, following a tear-jerking episode that forced them to establish a branch on the sidewalk.

The whole thing came about when a tear gas system in the bank went off accidentally, filling the place with fumes.

Weeping clerks set up a counter on the pavement. Whenever necessary, a clerk donned a gas mask, dashed into the bank to get change or cash a check, and then returned to the sidewalk to complete the "deal."

The New Jersey Bell Telephone company transferred the bank's incoming calls to the corner drug store.

Puzzled passers-by couldn't resist the temptation to ask the clerks if the bank was a victim of the housing shortage—or if the mortgage had been foreclosed.

Jesus and the Sabbath

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The man with the withered hand.

"This is the day which Jehovah hath made; We will rejoice and be glad in it."—Psalm 118:24.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Aug. 4 is Exodus 20:8-11, Nehemiah 13:15-18, Psalms 92:1-2; 118:24, Matt 12:9-12, Mark 1:21-24; 2:23-28; 3:1-5; the Memory Verse being Psalm 118:24. "This is the day which Jehovah hath made. We will rejoice and be glad in it.")

IN EXODUS 20, the Lord said, "Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work. But the seventh is the sabbath of the Lord thy God, in it thou shalt not do any work."

This law was given to commemorate the rest after six days of creation, and also to give rest to man and beast after they too had labored for six days. It is a wise rule which blesses us all. And on this seventh day we remember our Creator. It is a day of worship, a family day when all go to church, worship, and later walk, read, talk of different subjects than on any other day. It is not only a rest for the bodies of men, but for their minds, souls and hearts, too.

Nehemiah, coming back to his own land, found that men were disregarding the commandment of the Lord. He saw the people working in their vineyards, treading wine presses, bringing in sheaves, loading the produce on asses and taking it into Jerusalem to be sold. Also he saw men of Tyre—not Jews—who brought fish and all manner of wares into the market place in Jerusalem, and sold it.

Nehemiah Contends With Nobles
"Then I contended with the nobles of Judah, and said unto them, What evil thing is this that ye do, and profane the sabbath day? Did not your fathers thus, and did not our God bring all this evil upon us, and upon this city, yet ye bring more wrath upon Israel by profaning the sabbath?"

Psalm 92 begins, "It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto Thy name. O most High: To shew forth Thy loving kindness in the morning, and Thy faithfulness every night."

And in the 11th Psalm, "This is day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it." The reading of these psalms is enough without comment.

Matthew and Mark both tell of Jesus' healing the withered hand of the man He found in the synagogue where He was teaching on the sabbath. The Pharisees present, of course, accused Him of breaking the law, but Jesus asked them if one of them owned a sheep and it fell into a pit on the sabbath day, would he not lift it out? "How much then is a man better than a sheep? Wherefore it is lawful to do well on the sabbath."

In Mark's account of this episode he says Jesus was angry at the hardness of heart of these men.

The Heart Mountain Relocation Center in northwestern Wyoming was the third largest populated city in the state.

Harry E. Randall of Meadville, a purple heart veteran and ex-first sergeant of the 81st Chemical Mortar battalion, said the first two men were killed when a mortar shell exploded prematurely in the barrel of the gun. The blast occurred while his outfit was supporting the 90th Infantry division during the bloody crossing of the Moselle river.

Campbell said 23 cases of the disease had been reported during July including 11 in the week ended yesterday.

"We are a little better off than we were last year at this time," he stated. "There have been no big jumps in the number of polio cases from week to week."

Campbell said that a child who had been attending Camp Gallo near Butler, had been removed to a home at Cleveland, O., where it was reported to have died of polio.

He emphasized that the department had not received any reports of other cases at the camp but pointed out a rumor had swept Pittsburgh that an epidemic was in progress. Campbell said no department officials would be sent to the camp.

Tells Of Rescue In Fire At Sea

Six Hundred Saved From Burning Brazilian Ship
By One Vessel

By CAPT. IVOR L. PRICE
(Written Especially for I. N. S.)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 1.—(INS)

The Dover Hill was nearing the Brazilian coast early in the morning when it was called by the first mate, who reported seeing a ship at sea.

When I rushed to the bridge the entire horizon seemed aflame. It seemed like sunrise, but it was only 3 a. m.

I immediately ordered full speed ahead and an hour later we were alongside the Brazilian liner Duque de Caxias which was in bad shape.

Hundreds of persons were lining rails along the liner's three decks, and three lifeboats in the water held about 25 souls.

Huge clouds of smoke made visibility difficult, although flames were seen licking at the liner's stacks from below decks.

I heaved-to as near as possible to the liner and told the mate to summon all hands. It is impossible to tell what will happen to a burning vessel, and it was urgent to get those passengers off as quickly as possible.

Seas Calm

Fortunately, we had unusually calm seas, and I knew the Brazilian coast was only 60 miles and Rio de Janeiro a little more than 100 miles to the southwest.

We worked like the devil in the darkness but pretty soon daylight arrived to help things out.

Even in daylight the transfer of passengers went slowly, however, and I ordered cargo baskets swung overboard. We packed passengers in these and swung them aboard by scores.

There were plenty of women and children mixed up among the passengers, but we were working so fast we took them as they came.

Finally, after daylight, Brazilian navy ships began arriving to assist in the rescue work. About 10 a. m. I had some 600 persons aboard and the other ships were well loaded.

Fire aboard the liner seemed under control, so I headed for Rio. This rescue was much simpler than the last one in which I participated along the Brazilian coast. That was in 1926 when the Italian liner Prince Pessa Mafalda was wrecked on the Abrolhos rocks, near Bahia.

That time, 400 persons drowned or were eaten by sharks.

We sure were luckier this time.

Restaurant Fire In Philadelphia

Two-Alarm Fire Guts One Of Oldest Restaurants In
'Quaker City'

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Dense clouds of smoke billowed over the water-front today when a two-alarm fire gutted the upper two stories of a building housing one of Philadelphia's oldest restaurants.

Eight engine companies responded to the blaze which was confined to the third and fourth floors of the Shroyer restaurant at 412 Arch street.

Joseph Rosenzweig, 48, a watchman in the building, said he awakened in his first floor living quarters and smelled smoke. He traced the smoke to the fourth floor, and was burned as he tried in vain to quell the flames with a bucket of water.

Police took Rosenzweig, an Austrian refugee who had spent nearly five years in Italian and German concentration camps, to Hahnemann hospital, where he was treated for second degree burns of the arms, body, face and hands, and discharged.

Although the fire was confined to the third and fourth floors of the restaurant, which was founded in 1874, much equipment on the lower floors suffered water damage.

The cause of the blaze and the total extent of the damage, has not yet been determined.

Here's Chance To Get Baby Blimp

MOFFETT FIELD, Calif., Aug. 1.—(INS)—Anyone with an idle $7,500 and a yen for a home in the clouds was offered a golden opportunity today by the War Assets Administration.

The federal agency put up for sale at Moffett Field a surplus "baby blimp," inflated and ready to take to the air.

The "baby" is a mere 147.5 feet long, 47.5 feet wide and 54 feet high. If priority holders fail to bid for the airship, the sale will be open to the public on a first come, first served basis.

Sixty-four head of purebred Hereford cattle auctioned at an annual sale of the Wyoming Hereford ranch near Cheyenne brought a total of $279,750. Average price paid was $4,371.

PROF. L. F. BUDENZ GOES TO FORDHAM

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 1.—(INS)—Louis F. Budenz, who resigned recently as professor of economics at Notre Dame university, announced today that he has accepted the position of assistant professor of economics at Fordham university.

Budenz gave up his post as managing editor of the Communist newspaper, Daily Worker, last fall to return to the Catholic church.

He was named on the Notre Dame faculty, but had suffered from acute sinusitis since moving to South Bend. He announced that this was the reason for his resignation from his university post.

Pointers mated with setters produce what are known as droppers.

Alliance Man Is Fire Victim

ALLIANCE, O., Aug. 1.—Funeral services were arranged for Emil Buehler, 77, who became Alliance's seventh fire fatality victim of the year, when he was trapped in his apartment Wednesday.

Buehler's son, Kenneth, with whom he and his wife, Clara, made their home, was unsuccessful in three attempts to get his father out of an upstairs room.

The son was able to rescue his mother, his wife, Ida, and two-year-old daughter, Wanda Lou. The aged man was rushed to the City hospital, where he was pronounced dead from asphyxiation.

Former Ellwood Man Heads C-I

Charles R. Cox Is New President of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation

C. R. COX

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 1.—Benjamin F. Fairless, president, United States Steel Corporation, announces that Charles R. Cox today becomes president of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation, succeeding J. Lester Perry, who has become assistant to president, United States Steel Corporation of Delaware.

Mr. Cox has been president of National Tube Company, another U. S. Steel subsidiary, since March, 1943. Joining the National Tube Company as general superintendent, Ellwood Works, in 1934, Mr. Cox's rise in that company was rapid. In 1936 he was made vice president in charge of operations; in 1941, executive vice president; and in 1943, was elected president of National Tube. Born in Schenectady, N. Y. in 1891 and educated at New York University, Mr. Cox started his business career in 1914 with Marwick, Mitchell-Peet and Co., chartered accountants, New York. From 1918 to 1920 he was affiliated with the United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet Corporation. In 1920 he came to Pittsburgh with the Crucible Steel Company of America, and from 1930 to 1934 was associated with Babcock and Wilcox Tube Company, Beaver Falls, Pa.

It was under his immediate direction that tremendous quantities of large size seamless pipe for both the "Big Inch" and "Little Big Inch" petroleum pipe lines were produced in record time at the Lorain, Ohio, Works of the company, and that aircraft and other specialty tubing production was stepped up in plants at Gary, Ind. and Ellwood City, Pa.

SUMMER FLEA BEETLES APPEAR

By including DDT in the regular Bordeaux potato spray—2 pounds of 50 per cent wettable powder or one quart 25 to 30 per cent miscible DDT per 100 gallons of spray—control can be obtained on summer flea beetles which are now making their appearance in large numbers.

In addition to the summer brood of flea beetles, which will be increasing during late July and early August, aphids also are beginning to build up heavy infestation, particularly on late potatoes. The DDT will control the aphids also.

The thoroughness of the spray application will determine their effectiveness in control. Continue the use of DDT in the regular potato sprays to August 1, or perhaps to August 15.

Speakers were scheduled to include Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago, editor of the American Medical Association journal, and Dr. Stanley P. Reimann, director of the Research Institute at Lankenau hospital, Philadelphia.

Kenneth Bauder Wins Auto Derby In Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, July 31.—Kenneth Bauder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Bauder, is the toast of the town following his triumph in the soap box derby races held here yesterday.

The 15-year old contestant was the best of a field of 23 entrants in the annual derby held in the community. Donald Gold, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gold, finished in the runner-up position, a half-length behind Bauder.

The winner will represent the Ellwood City district in the National Soap Box Derby to be held in Akron.

British Force Evacuation Of Jewish Shops

JERUSALEM, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The British government in Palestine today forced Jewish merchants in the center of Jerusalem to evacuate their shops amid charges that this action represented a reprisal against the Jewish community.

The British maintained that the area must be cleared for the security of their nearby police station.

These evictions will establish a complete no-man's-land in the center of Jerusalem's busiest and most exclusive shopping center.

More than 50 shops and hundreds of offices received notices that they must immediately vacate their quarters. Among them was the Anglo-Palestine bank, which serves both Jewish and Arab commercial interests in Jerusalem.

The Palestine Post printed an article this morning declaring that the British could solve the problem of security for their police station by erecting its headquarters outside the city, as they have done in many other cases.

Meanwhile, British authorities announced that they have unearthed the largest cache of arms yet found in their fine-toothed combing of Tel Aviv.

The location of the Treasury building in Washington, out of harmony with the original plan for the city, was chosen by President Jackson who stuck his cane in the ground to indicate the site.

Welfare Head Makes Defense

Replies To Charges Against Mental Hospital Opera- tion In Philadelphia

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Secretary of Welfare S. M. R. O'Hara maintained today that the Philadelphia General hospital "compares favorably with the standard of operation" of other mental institutions despite criticism.

During a news conference, scheduled by a representative of Gov. Edward Martin after newsmen were unable to contact Miss O'Hara, she denied that the Veterans Administration had an contract with the hospital for the care and maintenance of former service men.

It had been reported at Philadelphia that the V. A. had cancelled a $33,000 contract with the hospital because of alleged unsatisfactory conditions.

Explanation Given
Miss O'Hara explained, however, that the V. A. had an "arrangement" whereby certain compensatory allowances due veterans were received by hospital superintendents for food, maintenance and incidental expenses of ex-servicemen confined in mental hospitals.

She explained there were approximately 800 veterans including 200 World War II servicemen being treated in the state's 22 mental hospitals.

"So far as the Department of Welfare is advised, the Philadelphia State hospital (Byberry) is qualified to give services within the range of its facilities and that it has been rendering those services to the community including veterans," she stated.

6,110 Patients Crowd Hospital
Dr. Hilding Bengt, director of the Bureau of Mental Health, said there were 6,100 patients at the hospital which has a capacity of 3,600 persons.

"The big problem in a place like Byberry is the replacement of obsolete or deteriorated facilities as quickly as it is possible to do so under the construction program," Miss O'Hara said.

She explained that the next biggest problem was the recruitment of personnel. Since 1933, she added, the department has carried out $8,000,000 worth of construction at the Philadelphia hospital.

"We have made every effort to help out the Veterans Administration in providing accommodations for veterans," she said. "We have resorted to many devices to give service because of overextended facilities."

CHURCH FIRE DAMAGED

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Firemen today estimated the damage at $1500 in a fire which threatened St. Michael's Roman Catholic church in Pittsburgh.

The fire, which ignited huge piles of candles stocked in a store room adjoining the church, was discovered by two neighborhood children who quickly sounded the alarm. Firemen said slight smoke damage was found in the nave of the church.

Martin Gantz Reunion Plans Are Progressing

Past and present officers of the Martin Gantz school reunion held a successful meeting in the office of Charles B. Mayne, and plans are now underway for the annual reunion, scheduled August 15, in the Cathedral.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock, and this year a clever program will be presented. The reunion will afford a pleasant get-together for many former pupils and teachers who do not manage to meet with another often.

Invitations have already been sent to out-of-town guests, and replies have been received from Miss Birdie Craig, a former teacher from Ocala, Fla.; J. Marion Smith, of Dearborn, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. George P. Jones, of Sarasota, Fla.; and Bernard (Bunny) Rosenblum, of Butler. Invitations to the local pupils and teachers will be mailed soon.

Fred Duff is the Martin Gantz

reunion president. He appointed the following committees:

Finance—Wesley Rice, Karl Rohrer, and Clare Duff; nominating—William J. Connerly, Paul Z. Butz and Mont Magill; invitations and registrations—Mrs. Kathryn Kilbreath and Maude Mitchell; memorial—Maude Mitchell, Clare Duff and Mrs. Gula Bauder Keagy; entertainment—Arch Cubison; Mrs. Gula Bauder Keagy, Reed McCullough and Billy Williams, Jr.; decorating—Mrs. Olive Raub Hewitt; tickets—A. Earl Douglas, publicity—Palma Julian, Paul F. Butz.

Officers for 1946 included: president, Fred Duff; first vice-president, Karl Rohrer; second vice-president, Arch Cubison; secretary, Mrs. Kathryn Kilbreath; assistant secretary, Maude Mitchell; treasurer, Clare Duff.

The next general committee meeting will be on August 12 at eight o'clock.

Belgian Mother Adopts Grave Of Sgt. D. Bradford

Mother Receives Letter By Airmail
Wednesday Containing Picture Of Son's Grave

Mrs. Mary Bradford of 1410 High-land avenue received a letter on Wednesday from Mme. Veuve Lecrenier of Dison, Belgium, which enclosed a photograph of Mrs. Lecrenier, standing beside the grave of Sgt. David R. Bradford, who was killed in action on January 24, 1940, while serving with the 26th Infantry of the First Division. The grave is in the Henri-Chapelle Military cemetery in Belgium.

Mrs. Lecrenier, in her letter, states that she has adopted the grave and will visit it and place flowers upon it.

"Over here," Mrs. Lecrenier states, "we think it's a real duty to take care of the graves of the boys who came from so far and who died for the freedom of our country. May God bless their folks for the magnitude of their sacrifices. We'll always remember them."

Through a co-incidence, Sergeant Bradford is buried in the same cemetery as Sgt. Robert D. Shellito, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Shellito, of 1402 Highland avenue, near neighbors.

FLOOD LIGHTS BEING ERECTED AT BESSEMER

Work on the floodlights at the Bessemer high football field is progressing rapidly. Chandler B. McMillan, principal of the high school, said today.

Already the cement foundations have been set for the eight light standards that are to illuminate the football games this fall. A ditch has been dug across the field so that a cable may be laid to carry power to the lamps on the opposite side of the field. The cable is to be laid below the frost line.

One set of bleachers has arrived but has neither been painted nor set up as yet. This set is expected to seat 200 to 250 fans. Another set of bleachers is expected soon, it was reported.

Mr. McMillan expressed concern over the chain-link that has been ordered, but has not yet arrived. It was expected to have the fence installed before the first game this fall.

Y.W.C.A. Club Council Enjoys Picnic Supper

Group Hears That Helen Hazen Is To Head Area Conference
Next Summer

Twenty-eight members of the Y. W. C. A. Business and Industrial club council met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Shaffer on the Robinson road Wednesday evening for a picnic dinner.

The host and hostess served the supper, after which reports of the Wells college conference of all clubs in the New England central Atlantic area were given by Dorothy Moore, Mildred Engs and Norma Hamm.

Miss Helen Hazen, a member of the New Castle council, was elected chairman of next summer's area conference, which will probably also be at Wells college. Miss Hazen is chairman of the district conference which will meet in New Castle in October.

Retiring because of ill health, Miss Marian Ochampaugh, program director for the Y. W. C. A. girls' clubs, was given an attractive purse, a pair of nylon hose and a Bible dictionary by the group as a farewell gift.

Mrs. Cathryn Shaffer made the presentation.

Following the business meeting, dessert was served to the council members. The next meeting of the organization will be in the "Y" on September 4 at 7:30, when an election of officers will take place.

Tennessee Voters Going To Polls

Primary Election Under Way; Senate Nomination High Spot
Of Battle

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Tennessee today goes to the primary polls.

High spot in the Tennessee race—where nomination by the Democratic party is tantamount to election—is the reelection drive of Sen. McKellar, president pro-tem of the senate.

Edward W. Carmack is running with CIO-PAC backing against the present incumbent, who has the backing of the powerful "boss" crump machine.

McKellar, now 77, has not visited his home state to participate in the pre-primary campaigns on the plea of press of business in Washington.

In the Tennessee gubernatorial race, Gov. James Nance is seeking reelection, with his chief opponent being former Gov. L. B. Col. Gordon Browning. There are two other gubernatorial candidates seeking endorsement of the Democratic party.

Tennessee's ten seats in the house of representatives hinge, in large part, on the outcome of the primary with the keenest interest being shown in the district formerly represented by Republican Carroll Reece, who gave up his seat to head the Republican National Committee.

TRAINED EAGLE MAKES ESCAPE

Movie Star Is Reported On The Loose In Vicinity Of Nar-berth, Pennsylvania

NARBERTH, Pa., Aug. 1.—(INS)—A movie star is on the loose today in Norberth.

And if anyone sees her, it's suggested that they wave a fish in front of her, rather than shoot her. The star is Aquila, a trained American bald eagle owned by Daniel Mannix, a writer and lecturer of Narberth.

Aquila was taking a short hop around her owner's lawn last night when a barking dog frightened her onto a pole. Then a crowd formed and frightened her into a tree.

Finally Mannix called the fire department. He climbed to the end of a long fire ladder and was just about to grab her. Suddenly Aquila, deciding she'd rather be one in the bush than in the hand, gave him the bird and flew off—destination unknown.

Now her owners are worried for fear someone will take a shot at her. When Mannix was in the Navy Aquila stayed at the Philadelphia zoo, where she staged a brief "break". But when keepers waved a fish at her, she traded her freedom for a lin.

Mannix believes this technique might work a second time. Aquila has appeared in several movie shorts. And only a few days ago,

Hollywood called to ask her to star in a full-length picture.

Mrs. Mannix, who called International News Service this morning to ask its help, said there's a reward for her finder.

The flying lady is perfectly harmless, her owners report. She's been trained to hunt. But last night and today it was her owners who were doing the hunting.

Salt brine is treated electrically to produce caustic soda and liquid chlorine.

May Continue To Occupy Austria

MOSCOW, Aug. 1.—(INS)—A Soviet newspaper said today that nationalization of the 13 East Austrian enterprises claimed by the Soviets as reparations may lead to continued occupation and Allied control of Austria.

The newspaper Izvestia charged that the Austrian action in taking over onetime German-owned plants was illegal. The Russians have asserted that all properties in East Austria formerly owned by the Germans may be seized as reparations.

In 1951 the Bishop of Ghent, testing the biblical knowledge of his clergymen, found that of 311 of them, 171 could not repeat the 10 commandments. Ten could not say the Lord's prayer. Twenty-seven could not name its author, and 30 could not tell where it was to be found.

THIS TIME OF YEAR

Some folks have really a great hankering for sand in their soup and sunburn on their neck. For such all I can say is I'm sorry when you can buy Campbell's Chicken Soup without sand or a scratch . . . 2 cans for 31 cents.

You know around this time of year I always get plagued with wimmin, wanting to know what's good to take on a picnic. They mean food, but what I want to answer back is D. D. T. which I can furnish a full quart made by Black Flag, costs only 39 cents.

Even Callos Pads is not bad.

How should I know what they want to eat after meeting up with nature, black ants, chiggers and nats and road dust.

Wonder why people don't want to stay at home on Sundays and have a respectable dinner? I guess it's so they kin go out and get indigestion on nack nicks.

Some folks say they have fun on picnics, others say they work up a good appetite, but I figure they could eat better if they would stay at home and vaporize reading the Sunday paper on the porch or if there's not hot enough stick their head out the window. Eating an orange with the juice running down their arm. You'll have plenty of flies and fun but I can sell you a full 46oz. can of orange juice for 49 cents with the sugar added.

Come to C n Buy and go around through the store and if I would give you everything for a picnic free I would go broke. That's how many good items we have for picnics.

There is still plenty of scarce food items. I never have enough of them to advertise, because I hate to have you come to my store and say sorry all gone (But if you don't come to my store) we may have something you may need. Don't hesitate to ask us we will be only to glad to sell it.

Now don't quit your favorite place of dealing just because you think you are not receiving your share, as your dealer does not always receive his full share because of shortages.

Yes, come in any time you will always find our prices as high if not higher than any one else. But in spite of the fact we still have hundreds of dissatisfied customers, May we count on you? Better go to your favorite dealer and buy some coffee.

Always a place to park . . . if parking lot is full we will gladly let use the new parking meters.

Decontrol Board Speeds Plans For Control Hearings

Government Officials Weigh One Cent Per Loaf Price Increase For Bread

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Government officials today weighed a one-cent-a-loaf price increase for bread as the new price decontrol board speeded plans for hearings to determine whether controls should be restored on livestock, grain, and dairy products.

Price Administrator Paul Porter and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson were expected to decide today on a recommendation that bread ceilings be lifted one cent a loaf and that flour prices be boosted about one cent a pound.

The recommendation was made by the OPA's food branch, which also may approve a baking industry request for increases in the prices of crackers and sweet goods such as cookies.

The price decontrol board allowed itself only eight days in which to air the knotty problem of whether controls on livestock, dairy products, cotton seed and soybeans should be restored on August 21. The board announced that public hearings are expected to begin on August 12.

Board Chairman Roy L. Thompson said that procedure for the hearings would be determined by next Tuesday and that representatives of agriculture, industry and consumers would be notified immediately thereafter of rules and dates governing the sessions.

Control on grain, livestock, dairy products, cotton seed and soybeans automatically are restored on August 21 unless the board rules by August 20 that ceilings should be kept off.

St. Mary's Picnic Attended By Crowd

All-Day Annual Outing Is Enjoyed
By Parishioners Wednesday
At Cascade Park

Parishioners of St. Mary's church enjoyed their annual parish picnic on Wednesday, the outing being held at Cascade park with a record-breaking crowd attending since the war.

Among those present were many service men who have returned home. Young and old gathered for the event, and at 1 o'clock the children gathered in the grove, where Rev. Fr. Francis N. McCarter, pastor of the church, presented each with a treat—free rides on the park concessions.

An entertaining afternoon was spent by the youngsters and their parents, and races and games were featured with many participating.

At 5 o'clock the picnic supper was served in the grove, and coffee was served by Mrs. Josephine Baldani and her committee. The evening entertainment followed for the adults with Ben Taylor in charge of arrangements.

Special guests were Rev. Fr. Francis McCarter, pastor of the church, and Rev. Fr. Ignatius Koller, assistant pastor.

William Gilboe, chairman, is given due credit for the excellent manner in which he planned and arranged the outing, and he was aided by a large group of committees.

SMALL NATIONS WIN RIGHT TO EXPRESS VIEWS

I am sure we could meet their wishes. It must be pointed out again that we are drafting five treaties, not just one.

"Each commission corresponds to the individual qualities and conditions that each treaty calls for."

"Allow me to say that in the case of Finland, for example, the United States never claimed a place in discussion of that treaty draft nor did France. However, both attended examination of the draft."

Can Give Views

"This formula as adopted by the foreign ministers' council should be retained, but if some one wishes to state his views to a commission, I suggest an amendment that opportunity be granted to give a hearing to non-member applicant."

"Why should any member of the conference be prevented at any time from stating his views?"

"Such a procedure would satisfy us and promote successful work by the conference."

Molotov asserted the Dutch proposal was in violation of the Moscow decision which provided that countries directly at war with the enemy countries only participate in drawing up the treaties.

Evatt took sharp issue, claiming the question at stake is whether or not nations like The Netherlands be granted voting places on commissions or simply be relegated to committee hearings.

The Australian finally said he would continue to support the Dutch proposal unless the Dutch themselves were satisfied with Molotov's compromise and added:

Complex Problems

"I wish to point out the new principle of this conference is that European problems are so complex it is right and proper for every country to have the right to participate in settlement of any questions concerned."

The procedural committee adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow when it will consider Poland's request to serve on an economic committee to deal with Hungary.

Evatt had taken the attitude that "this conference must not shackle itself" when discussion of the Greek proposal began.

A Yugoslavian delegate, Moshia Pyade, opposed the Greek proposal on the grounds it would "open too widely discussion on questions which the conference was not called to consider."

Informed sources said the Greek proposal was made in an effort to obtain readjustment of the Greek-Albanian frontier.

Secretary of State Byrnes was reported ready, meanwhile, to offer a compromise plan to the conference on the thorny question of voting procedure.

Foreign Minister Dmitri Z. Manulsky of the Ukraine joined Yugoslavia in opposing the Greek proposal and supported application of the two-thirds voting rule.

France for Two-Thirds Rule

French delegation circles indicated, meanwhile, that France has decided to throw its support to advocates of the two-thirds voting rule. If today's session of the procedure committee calls a vote on the dispute issue.

France was said to feel bound to commitments of the ministers' council, and ready to oppose all efforts to upset the big four suggestion that any treaty change recommendations must be approved by a two-thirds vote.

Britons in Paris are also inclined to consider that decision of the ministers' council are obligatory, and they are expected to vote in favor of the two-thirds majority.

Although Herbert Evatt, Australian minister for external affairs, has remained firm in demanding that the will of a simple majority should prevail, he left himself a loophole for changing his stand during yesterday's session.

Evatt suggested he might prefer to avoid a decision on the majority issue and revert to a method used on committee, thus assuring unanimous acceptance by the conference without formal vote.

Informed circles in Paris feel that none of the nations at the conference is keen to accept the responsibility for causing a deadlock on the voting issue and being accused of causing delay.

Furlough Pay Bill Is Passed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Legislation providing for furlough pay for armed forces enlisted personnel, with the payments mostly in five-year bonds, passed the house by a voice vote today and was sent to President Truman.

Estimated to cost some $2,400,000,000 it was passed by the Senate earlier in the day, also by voice vote.

TAHOE CITY, Cal., Aug. 1.—(INS)—El Dorado county authorities disclosed today that Mrs. Barbara Walker, 23-year-old mother who abruptly left her husband and young son in New Hampshire last week, has consented to return home. Deputy Sheriff F. W. Branzel said he located Mrs. Walker at a Lake Tahoe restaurant where she had been working as a waitress and that she is now en route to the county seat at Placerville with Sheriff Lowell West.

Branzel said that Mrs. Walker talked at length with her parents in Maine by long distance telephone and that they persuaded her to return to her family.

Branzel said Mrs. Walker will remain at Sheriff West's home in Placerville until her relatives wire her money for transportation to New Hampshire.

Oppose Ruling On Compensation

A. F. L. Warns That Ruling
Will Be Contested If Not Rescinded

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The State Justice Department today scrutinized a ruling of the Department of Labor and Industry which the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (A. F. L.) claimed was detrimental to right of workers involuntarily made idle by strikes.

P. F. L. President James McDevitt warned Attorney General James H. Duff that the state superior court would be asked to intervene if the ruling was upheld. During the wave of post-war strikes, Secretary William H. Chestnut ruled that workers made idle involuntarily by strikes must wait five weeks for jobless benefits.

McDevitt claimed that the general assembly amended the unemployment compensation law in 1945 to include the phrase "at the factory or plant" in the section defining affected workers.

Understanding of Bill
"It was our understanding, while the bill was in the house before passage, that the words were included to distinguish between the strike situation at a given plant and workers affected at other plants," McDevitt said.

"We understood the words were used to make persons not participating in a strike eligible for compensation," he added.

"Secretary Chestnut has issued an interpretation in which he states very clearly that any person employed in any plant or business where a labor dispute is in progress is ineligible for unemployment compensation even though not participating in the dispute," McDevitt said.

"It is one of the most unfortunate interpretations ever given in Pennsylvania," McDevitt claimed.

He estimated that more than 100,000 workers were affected by the decision.

"We have called upon the attorney general for an official opinion of the interpretation," he explained.

"If the opinion is favorable the matter will be settled and the people will be eligible for unemployment compensation."

"If the opinion is unfavorable, we will take a test case to the state superior court," McDevitt emphasized.

Lake Erie Coast Guardsman Saves Two From Drowning

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 1.—Seaman Second Class Thomas Pacic, of Youngstown, O., member of the U. S. Coast Guard complement of Erie, was credited Wednesday with saving the lives of an Erie man and his wife.

Pacic was aboard a coast guard tender returning from an assignment on Lake Erie when the couple was seen in the water clinging to their overturned canoe off Erie's peninsula. Pacic dived overboard.

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS

Medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and adults are victims of Pin-Worms. Watch for the warning signs, especially the embarrassing, nagging rectal itch. After centuries of Pin-Worm distress a really effective way to deal with them has been established through JAYNE'S P-W, the new Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets give satisfaction or your money back. So why take chances on Pin-Worms? If you suspect this ugly infection, ask your druggist for P-W and follow the directions. It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

"DOORSTEP" AIRPORT
MILWAUKEE, Wis.—(INS)—Milwaukee area citizens may now commute by air to the heart of the city, the American Municipal Association reports. A new "doorstep" airport has just been completed in Milwaukee located on Lake Michigan adjacent to the business district and is patronized by commuters, transients and businessmen who use private air transportation.

U. N. Secretary Deplores Lack Of Agreement

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations, today deplored the lack of agreement among the "Big Five" nations holding veto powers in the security council.

At the same time, he rebuked the nations holding mandates over non-self-governing territories for failure to file trusteeship plans in time to set up a UN trusteeship council at the forthcoming general assembly meeting.

Lie's statements were made publicly in his report to the general assembly which covered the period from the beginning of UN activities through June 30.

Eighteen fail to contribute. It showed that 18 countries, including 13 in Latin America, as yet have made no financial contribution to the UN. Nine others, including the United States and USSR, have made only partial payment.

The military staff committee, which has been shrouded in almost complete secrecy, was revealed to be engaged in "preparing the basis for the agreements provided for under article 47 of the charter upon which will rest the system of military enforcement at the disposal of the security council."

Later in the report, however, he said that military staff committee's final report on rules of procedure have not yet been examined by the security council's committee of experts.

Lie said that much of the security council's time "has been occupied by questions of procedure."

Disquieting Aspects. "Although preoccupation with such questions was to be expected where the highest issues of policy are involved, other developments in the security council's debates present disquieting aspects."

"The fact that the charter gave the right of veto to each of the permanent members imposes upon them an obligation to seek agreement among themselves. Many of the issues which have come before the security council have arisen from inability to reach such agreement."

"I should be failing in my duty if I did not emphasize the absolute necessity that the powers should seek agreement among themselves, in a spirit of mutual understanding."

and a will to compromise, and not abandon their efforts until such agreement has been reached.

"The United Nations is no stronger than the collective will of the nation that support it. Of itself it can do nothing."

Lie announced that he has sent a letter to all the countries holding mandates urging them to negotiate UN trusteeship agreements, preferably not later than the general assembly session.

He said: "The letter pointed to the unfortunate probability of a further delay of a year in setting up the trusteeship council if agreements were not concluded by that time."

Somervell, who assumed the presidency of the corporation several months ago following his retirement from the army, said that he did not have "anything to say at this time," but indicated that he might issue a statement later.

Koppers is one of the nation's largest coal, coke, oil and gas corporations.

Later in the report, however, he said that military staff committee's final report on rules of procedure have not yet been examined by the security council's committee of experts.

Find Missing Girl

Small Reservoir

Finding Of Body Halts Widespread Search For Girl Last Seen Dancing

ONSET, Mass., Aug. 1.—(INS)—The body of Miss Ruth McGurk, mysteriously missing since last Saturday night, was discovered today floating in a small reservoir in the Tremont district of nearby Wareham.

The body was found by John J. Lene, a resident of Wareham. State and local police called the medical examiner before removing the body from the water.

Mother Collapses
Finding of the body halted a widespread search for the attractive 25-year-old Cambridge store clerk. She vanished from a dance pavilion on the first day of her vacation in this Cape Cod town.

When told that the body had been found, Mrs. Helen McGurk, 48, collapsed at her home in Cambridge.

When Ruth disappeared she was wearing a $700 engagement ring given her by her fiance, a sailor who has been at the atomic bomb tests in the Pacific.

Police said a hunt will be intensified for a young man known only as "Frank" with whom Miss McGurk was dancing when last seen by chunks. Search for him had been extended to Boston.

WEIRTON UNION
President Named

WEIRTON, W. Va., Aug. 1.—(INS)—Everett A. Ross, 33, of Steubenville, O., today was elected president of the Weirton independent union, reputedly the world's largest independent collective bargaining agency, representing 10,000 employees of the Weirton Steel company.

A charter member of the organization, Ross succeeds the late Lawrence S. Lafferty, who died suddenly July 24, just four days after being re-elected for his sixth successive term.

Prior to today's appointment, Ross, employed in the company's strip field division since 1933, was the union's first vice president for three years and also secretary-treasurer for an additional three terms.

JAPANESE CITIES
THANK MACARTHUR
FOR FOOD RECEIVED

TOKYO, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Officials of two Japanese cities and seven prefectures today sent messages of gratitude to General MacArthur for food received from the United States.

The supreme commander in turn expressed his "high appreciation" to citizens of Sashiji village on Oshima, an island at the entrance to Tokyo Bay, for "timely and valuable assistance" in rescuing 16 survivors of an army transport plane crash.

The plane crashed near the village May 5. The villagers cut a trail up a steep slope to the wreckage and carried wounded down for treatment by Japanese doctors and nurses.

Legion Endorses
Victory Day Date

Would Make August 14 Annual Victory Day For World War II Vets

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The state American Legion today endorsed a plan calling for annual observance of August 14 as "Victory Day of World War II."

Department Commander James P. Murray of Forest City explained that the Legion's aim was "to make victory day mean to World War II veterans what armistice day means to fighting men of World War I."

"We should observe the date fittingly to keep alive the memory of the cost of our liberty," he stated. "We need the annual reminder of our World War II victory also to rededicate ourselves with the same national unity and team-work which distinguished our war effort, to the vital task of translating our military victory into enduring peace."

Atomic Energy Bill
Signed By Truman

Bill To Safeguard Nation's Nuclear Knowledge Is Signed Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(INS)—President Truman today signed the McMahon atomic energy control bill which is designed both to safeguard the nation's nuclear "know how" and to adapt atomic power to the uses of peace.

Senator McMahon, (D. Conn.), author of the measure, and Senators Connally (D. Tex., Austin (R. Va.), Russell (D. Ga., Hart (R. Conn., Millikin (R. Colo., and Johnson (D. Colo., were present as the President affixed his signature to the historic legislation.

The bill places control of atomic developments in the hands of an all-civilian five-man commission. Mr. Truman is expected to name the members of the commission in time for Senate approval before Congress adjourns.

DENVER, Colo.—(INS)—Biggest topic of conversation in Denver these days is the so-called police department scandal.

These developments have occurred within a few days' time:

One patrolman has been arrested on a grand jury indictment charging assault to murder in connection with the death of a man who had been brought to headquarters on a drunkenness charge; two other policemen have been suspended and one of them heavily fined after a hearing into the alleged beating up of a man at a Denver baseball game.

Another patrolman was booked on drunkenness charges; still another was indicted on a charge of stealing linen from Denver hospitals; recaptured prisoners testified that some guards aided and abetted their jailbreaks, and the district attorney's office said other policemen might be indicted for perjury in previous hearings, while the grand jury grimly continued probing the entire department.

So it goes.

So it went, or rather, so it still goes.

At first, it might seem just a routine sort of scandal—the sort that crops every so often in many cities, lasts long enough to lop off a few political and official heads, and then dies down.

Actually, however, it is much more than that. It typifies the type of post-war trend noticeable in many American cities today, and the public's reaction to it is also typical—can be summed up in seven words:

People are tired of getting pushed around.

Understand, I know my libel laws too well for that. I am saying that right now they represent, to the average Denver citizen, the type of official person who can tell him to do something—like "move along, you"—without giving him a reason why.

And John Q. Ordinary Citizen has had what is known in social circles as a stomach full of that type of treatment. He had to put up with it in unprecedented doses during the war, because he figured the end justified the irritation. But most of the time, deep down inside him, he was pretty doggone sure that somebody was just throwing his weight around—that a lot of people exercising arrogant secret authority weren't doing so much for the war effort as they were their own ego.

Got "Move-On Orders"?

He got the move-on-and-don't-question-why business from army officers, from law enforcement people, from bureaucrats and big and little officials. But it was war, so he agreed with Sherman and let it slide.

Now the war's over, and he doesn't push so easily.

In Seattle a few weeks ago, I discovered with surprise that the sympathy of hundreds of citizens was with Nicolai Redin, the Russian officer being tried (and subsequently acquitted) on spy charges.

The reason for that strange placement of sentiment was that the average citizen thought the FBI and other officers involved were being unnecessarily officious and almost ridiculously secretive about their wire-tapping evidence—only to have it turn out a ludicrous and futile force when presented as evidence.

In Salt Lake City last week, both public and private jumped on the police department for arresting a soldier on charges of attempting to pilfer an illegal slot machine in a business establishment. Why were they sore? Because the cops left the utterly illegal machines there—until they were spirited away and unavailable for evidence—and dragged the boy into court.

When the tumult got too loud, they arrested one of the owners of the establishment, but he was released on bail much less than that of the soldier's—and the shouting started again.

I've noted that particular trend all across the country. It's the reassertion of the individual citizen's rights to dignity and decent treatment, and not a rising disrespect for law and order, even though it sometimes sounds that way.

Here in Denver, for instance, the finally-turned wrath of the little man in the street is so great that the cops scarcely dare bawl out a "walker for fear the crowds will jeer."

"Aw, go on—drag him into the station and beat him up, why doncha? That's the way you do everybody else."

Uniform Parole Plan Conference

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Uniform parole and probation procedures were slated today to be outlined during a three-day meeting of penal officials opening August 26 at Harrisburg.

Approximately 75 Pennsylvania parole and probation officers were scheduled to attend the meeting designed at a "refresher course" for officials who have served in the armed forces.

State parole laws, interstate parole and interstate compacts also will be considered by officials.

The conference will be sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association on Probation and Parole and the public service institute of the state department of public instruction.

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Baseball players have snarled up in the last 20 years or so to the point where they are a match in wits for the people who run the game, with the result that reforms sought by the major leagues will become effective and lasting.

Back before the so-called Golden Age a few men ran the game from the front offices and did not always run it wisely or justly.

The Black Sox scandal of 1919 generally is attributed to the shortsightedness and cheapness of a few men who handled major leagues like pawns and saw their policy kick back in their teeth.

Not Ready Yet
From time to time in the past player fraternities and other movements have been started for the protection of players, but the players themselves probably weren't yet ready for such reforms. It is different now. And while they are about it they should not forget to give the Pasquels of Mexico an assist on the play.

The Mexican league isn't particularly important in our baseball scheme of things, but it helped to soften up our major league bosses for the meetings with players held Monday and to make possible some changes in the regulations that will work to the benefit of the players.

Robert Murphy, of Boston, who sought to unionize the teams failed to make any headway in his plan, but he too gave the club-owners something to think about and made the way easier when the players decided to go ahead on their own.

Quite Reasonable
Up to now everybody has been quite reasonable and cooperative in the player-official get-togethers, paving the way to smooth negotiations in the future. Nearly all the sideline observers agree that the changes in regulations sought by the players are fair and should have been made long before now.

The minimum salary clause in the agreements long has been a sore spot in baseball. The owners naturally preferred to go along as they had paying youngsters as little as possible. The players never were in position to do anything about it—except take the contract or get out of baseball.

Will Rectify Inequity
The new setup will rectify that inequity, along with several others and after more than 100 years baseball will become a sporting proposition.

Building Roads To Timber Lands To Aid Housing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—The U. S. Forest Service has reported that 712 miles of access roads now being built to out-of-the-way government timber lands would increase lumber production for the Veterans Emergency Housing program, by approximately 111 million board feet during 1946. Wilson W. Wyatt, housing expediter and administrator of the National Housing Agency, announced today.

The roads are the first to be built with $10,500,000 allotted the Forest Service from $15,000,000 available for such construction under the Veterans Emergency Housing Act of 1946.

An estimated 35 million board feet of lumber will be produced in the southeastern states as a result of construction of 116 miles of the roads and approximately 19,600,000 board feet will come from Colorado and Wyoming where 683 miles of roads are being built, the report said.

In northern Idaho and Montana, where 152 miles of roads are under construction, an estimated 16,500,000 board feet of lumber will become available for veterans housing and a like amount will come from Utah, southern Idaho and eastern Wyoming where 134 miles of roads are under way.

Heirens' Parents Declare Son Has Never Confessed

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(INS)—William Heirens, the curious "I don't remember" suspect in three ghastly slayings and a long series of burglaries, was declared by his parents to be innocent of murder.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heirens were asked point-blank whether their son, a 17-year-old University of Chicago student, had confessed the murders to them and to his defense attorneys.

Mrs. Heirens said no.

The father, speaking slowly, stated:

"I should say not! He has not confessed to anyone."

The state nevertheless went ahead with plans to prosecute young Heirens for murder, and was prepared to ask that the college boy be sent to the electric chair.

Heirens himself balked at dictating a full confession to the three slaying of which he is suspected—the kidnap-killing of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan, the lipstick murder of ex-Wave Frances Brown and the robbery killing of Mrs. Josephine Ross, a widow.

STATE APPOINTMENT

HARRISBURG, Aug. 1.—(INS)—The appointment of Welles A. Gray of Minneapolis, Minn., as director of the state division of the Pennsylvania Economy league, was announced today at Harrisburg.

Robert B. Murray, Jr., president, said Gray would assume his duties September 1.
